Raymond Wang, CEO of Greenland, commented, "This is another great opportunity for us to update existing investors and to meet with new ones. We're coming off a strong 3Q 2021 results report, with revenue up nearly 40% year over year and net income up nearly 173% year over year. We are even more excited about the future and look forward to discussing our latest industrial electric vehicle launches – our new GEL-1800 Electric Loader and our new GEF-series Electric Forklift line."

"There's been a lot of attention focused on the consumer side of electric vehicles because those cars can be seen on the road. We think there is an even more exciting opportunity on the industrial electric side as we bring compelling financial and operating advantages of electrification in a warehouse or material handling fleet. This is a global market with significant multi-year growth potential for the industry and Greenland."
